

ABSTRACT

Tias Rosmala (12143189), Information System Design of finished goods supply At PT. Central Pangan Pertiwi

With the advancement of technological developments every year it is growing also in technology in a company because a company really needs to work with a computerized program that does not use again manually with a computerized program will make it very role for a company in doing data processing and processing activities. With the rapid presentasion of information it will speed up decision making, so as to utilize the cost, energy and time with more optimal.

PT. Central Pangan Pertiwi is a company that produces animal feed and the system is done still manually, ranging from ordering goods, to the making of the report, so that possible errors will occur in making the record and will be less effective in preparing reports in search of necessary data.

System design information supply of finished goods at PT. Central Pangan Pertiwi using a computerized system this is the best solution to solve the problems that occurin the process of supply of this finished goods, in order to facilitate and quickly in his work and in order not to errors in data processing and preparing reports in search of necessary data.

Keyboard : Information System Design, Soft Goods Supply Systems